WASHINGTON at #3/3 LSU Dawgs Make First Trip To SEC Country Since 1983

THE GAME: The Washington football team (1-0) travels to face LSU (1-0) this Saturday, the first time the Huskies have played a road game in the Southeastern Conference since the UW visited Baton Rouge in 1983. The Huskies did, however, open the Steve Sarkisian era vs. the Tigers in Seattle in 2009. LSU enters the game ranked No. 3 in both the USA Today coaches' poll and in the AP Top 25. The Huskies earned 55 points in the latest coaches' poll, one spot out of the top 25, while in the AP rankings, the Huskies picked up 15 points for the equivalent of a No. 32 ranking. Kickoff at Tiger Stadium is set for 6:05 p.m. CT/4:05 p.m. PT, and the game will air live on ESPN television. Washington opened the 2012 season last Saturday night at CenturyLink Field in Seattle by beating San Diego State, 21-12. In Baton Rouge, LSU handled North Texas, 41-14, in its opener last Saturday. Following the trip to LSU, the Huskies return home for their next two games. The Dawgs host Portland State on Sept. 15 (FX television) and then take on Stanford in a Thursday night, ESPN game on Sept. 27.

QUICK SNAPS: Washington had six true freshmen see action in the season-opener last Saturday vs. San Diego State: LS Ryan Masel, WR Jaydon Mickens, WR Kendyl Taylor, S Shaq Thompson, DE Pio Vatuvei and TB Erich Wilson II ... both Mickens and Thompson started the game ... sophomore TE Austin Seferian-Jenkins set a new career-high with nine receptions vs. SDSU while quarterback Keith Price set a new career-high for completions, with 25 ... at one stretch early in the SDSU game, Price completed 12 straight passes ... he remains, statistically, the most accurate passer in UW history ... junior CB Tre Watson, a former walkon transfer from Central Washington University, was awarded a scholarship prior to the season opener ... he started the SDSU game and had a 34-yard interception on the first drive of the game ... a total of 16 players made their UW debut vs. San Diego State, including starters Travis Feeney, Watson, Thompson and Mickens.

TELEVISION: The Washington-LSU game will air live to a national audience on ESPN with Brad Nessler (play-by-play), Todd Blackledge (color) and Holly Rowe (sidelines) providing the commentary. The game will also be available on other ESPN platforms, including (depending on a number of variables particular to each viewer) espn3.com and the Watch ESPN app.

RADIO: The Washington IMG College Network, with its flagship station KJR 950-AM/102.9 FM, will carry the live broadcast of every football game on 18 Northwest radio stations. Longtime play-by-play man Bob Rondeau and color analyst Damon Huard are joined by sideline reporter Elise Woodward. The game will also air nationally on Dial Global Sports (formerly Westwood One) with Chuck Cooperstein and Tony Boselli on the call. The LSU broadcast of the game will also air on Sirius (94) and XM (199) satellite radio.

THE HEAD COACH: In a frequently-told tale, Husky football coach Steve Sarkisian recalls his days as a young assistant traveling to face Washington at Husky Stadium. During the drive across Lake Washington, with the iconic home of the Dawgs towering ahead, Sarkisian marveled aloud at the city, the stadium and the atmosphere surrounding the UW program. A decade or so later, Sarkisian is in charge of the Washington football program he was admiring that day. And in just two years, he has re-established the kind of tough, exciting environment that was then, and is again now, so closely associated with the Husky football. The 2011 season, Sarkisian's third as head coach, provided more highlights for his up-and-coming program. The Husky offense posted one of its most prolific seasons ever, scoring 434 points over the course of the season, the most by a UW squad since the 1991 national championship team and the second-most in school history. The Huskies scored nearly 12 more points per game than they did the previous year. They also had marked improvement in passing yards (65 more yards per game) and total offense (47 more yards per game), while the team's third-down percentage improved vastly over the previous season, from 32 to 46 percent. Sarkisian coached his team to a third straight win over Washington State in the annual Apple Cup to remain undefeated against the UW's in-state rival and to wrap up a 7-5 regular-season record and 5-4 mark in the Pac-12 North. The Huskies secured a berth in the Valero Alamo Bowl, the No. 2 game in the Pac-12 bowl lineup. In 2010, Sarkisian's second season in Seattle, the Huskies made another clear step forward. The Dawgs went 7-6 overall and finished third in the Pac-10 Conference with a 5-4 record. Then, in the Holiday Bowl, Washington provided one of the bowl season's top games, beating an 18th-ranked Nebraska squad, 19-7. The win over the Cornhuskers was the last of a series of exciting, gutsy victories in 2010. The season included three Husky wins decided on the very last play of the game (Oregon State, USC and Cal), plus another in which the winning score came inside the final minute (WSU). Sarkisian was introduced as the new head coach of the Washington football team on Dec. 8, 2008. From the start, Sarkisian made it clear that he didn't think it would take long to turn the program around and get it back to the high level of success that UW football has enjoyed throughout its history. In his first season, 2009, he seemed to prove that he was right. Washington, which posted a winless season for the first time in school history the year before Sarkisian signed on, surged to a 5-7 record in 2009, an improvement of five victories over the previous year. No BCS-conference school in the nation could boast such improvement in terms of wins in 2009. And, Sarkisian's Husky squad pulled off that feat against a schedule that included 10 opponents who ended the season bowl-eligible. Sarkisian came to the UW with a wealth of experience as a quarterbacks coach and offensive coordinator. His string of success is nearly unprecedented as, during his time at USC, he coached two Heisman Trophy winners and oversaw one of the nation's most consistent and dominant offenses. Sarkisian spent 2007 and 2008 as the Trojans' assistant head coach and offensive coordinator. He had also previously served as assistant head coach and quarterbacks coach (2005-06), quarterbacks coach (2002-03) and as an offensive assistant (2001) at USC, for a total of seven seasons there. During his seven seasons as a member of the Trojans' staff, the team posted a combined 74-15 record. As offensive coordinator, his record was 22-3. Aside from his various roles at USC, Sarkisian also spent one season as quarterbacks coach for the Oakland Raiders in 2004 and as QBs coach at El Camino College in Torrance, Calif., in 2000, his first coaching job. Sarkisian starred at the quarterback position at the prep, collegiate and pro levels. After his standout career at Brigham Young University, he was played for the Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Canadian Football League for three seasons (1997-99). He had a record-setting two-year (1995-96) career at BYU, playing under legendary coach Lavell Edwards. Sarkisian completed 549-of-824 passes (66.6 percent) for 7,755 yards and 55 touchdowns in his career. His 162.0 career passing efficiency rating ranked third on the all-time NCAA list. As a senior in 1996, he led the nation in passing efficiency (173.6, No. 7 all-time) as the Western Athletic Conference champion Cougars went 14-1 and won the 1997 Cotton Bowl. He was the WAC Offensive Player of the Year in 1996, and earned second-team All-America honors. Sarkisian transferred to BYU from El Camino Junior College, where he played two seasons (1993-94). He was a first-team Junior College All-America selection as a sophomore and earned all-conference honors in 1993 as a

COACHING STAFF: Washington's assistant coaching staff returns entirely includes five new members in 2012, meaning half of the 10 full-time coaches are in their first season at the UW. Nearly all of the nine full-time assistant coaches have some sort of tie to the Northwest and many played for then-Pac-10 football programs. The offensive side of the ball is led by newcomer Eric Kiesau, the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach who came to the UW from California. A former QB at Portland State, Kiesau spent the last decade at either Cal or Colorado. He joins three offensive coaches who have been at the UW since Steve Sarkisian was hired. Associate head coach - offense and running backs coach Joel Thomas, in his fourth year at UW, grew up in Port Angeles, Wash., and is a member of the Idaho Athletic Hall of Fame. He is still the Vandals' all-time leader in carries, rushing yards and rushing TDs. Fellow Idaho grad Dan Cozzetto is in his fourth season as the UW's run game coordinator and offensive line coach. Cozzetto grew up in Spokane, Wash., and was also the Washington line coach in 2003. He came to the UW from Arizona State. UW pass game coordinator and wide receivers coach Jimmie Daugherty played QB at Missouri and spent most of his coaching career prior to the UW at the University of San Diego. Assistant head coach, recruiting coordinator and special teams coordinator Johnny Nansen is a fourth-year coach at the UW. He grew up in Long Beach, Calif., but played football at Washington State and spent the previous five years at Idaho before moving over to the UW. The four defensive coaches are all new to the UW this year. Coordinator Justin Wilcox grew up in Junction City, Ore., and spent four years as a defensive back at Oregon. He came to the UW from Tennessee and, prior to that, coached at Boise State, among others. His former college roommate, Peter Sirmon, oversees the UW linebackers. A four-year starter at Oregon and a native of Walla Walla, Wash., Sirmon played in the NFL for seven years before moving on to coaching. After stints at Central Washington and Oregon, he worked with Wilcox at Tennessee before coming to Seattle. The new defensive backs coach is Keith Heyward, a four-year letterman at Oregon State. An L.A.-area native, Heyward has coached at OSU six of the last seven seasons. Defensive line coach and defensive run game coordinator Tosh Lupoi had spent his entire playing and coaching career at California before moving to the UW this past off-season. A former Cal defensive lineman, he'd coached the line at his alma mater the last four years after two seasons as a GA. Washington also has two returning grad assistants and two new ones. Washington's two returners are Jordan Paopao and Donte Williams. Paopao, who works with the tight ends, was a four-year starting center at the University of San Diego while Williams, who prepped at Culver City High in the Los Angeles area, was a defensive back at Syracuse. The newcomers are Eric Guttorp, a Seattle native who wrapped up his career as a UW kicker last season, and Andrew Rolin, who played and coached at USD alongside Paopao and Dougherty before heading north to Seattle this off-season.

VIEW FROM THE OTHER SIDELINE: While the Huskies' full-time coaching staff doesn't include any UW graduates, nearly all of them have some tie to the state or to the Northwest and a surprising number have actually played for their alma mater against the Dawgs. Head man Steve Sarkisian's only loss in a 14-1 season as a senior at BYU in 1996 came to the UW at Husky Stadium. New defensive coaches Justin Wilcox and Peter Sirmon both faced the Huskies during their playing careers at Oregon from 1996 to 1999. Former Washington State linebacker Johnny Nansen, now the Huskies' recruiting coordinator and special teams coach, was on the opposite sideline for several Apple Cups in the early-to-mid 1990s and new defensive backs coach Keith Heyward played in a few barnburners vs. the UW for Oregon State from 1997 to 2000. More recently, defensive line coach Tosh Lupoi squared off with the Huskies during his time as a d-lineman at California at the start of the last decade. And while neither offensive line coach Dan Cozzetto nor running backs coach Joel Thomas ever faced Washington during their careers at Idaho, both grew up in the Evergreen State. Finally, new offensive coordinator Eric Kiesau has also never played against Washington, but did play his college football just across the border at Portland State.

HUSKIES vs. TIGERS HISTORY: Washington and LSU have played one another just twice in their histories, with LSU winning both. On Sept. 24, 1983, an unranked Tigers squad handed ninth-ranked Washington a 40-14 defeat in front of 82,390 fans (largest in LSU history to that point) in Baton Rouge. The Huskies entered the game 2-0 after a shutout of Northwestern and a thrilling, 25-24, win over Michigan in Seattle. LSU took a 17-3 lead by the end of the first quarter and never looked back, leading 34-7 before the Huskies' second TD early in the fourth. The Huskies couldn't get the ball moving on the ground with RB Jacque Robinson as they netted just 28 yards rushing for the game. The Huskies did find out though that they could move on the Tigers through the air, but every time the Huskies got a drive going, out came a penalty flag, as they were whistled for nine penalties for 107 yards. LSU's "Dalton-James" gang (Dalton Hilliard and Garry James) combined to rush for 226 yards and sophomore QB Jeff Wickersham added a career-high 259 passing yards and a touchdown. Wickersham also recorded two more touchdowns running the ball, both of them on play-action rollouts. His 259 yards passing were the second most in LSU school history. Washington's two scores came on a two-yard run by Robinson, which made the score 10-7 LSU, and when Steve Pelluer scored on a one-yard QB sneak four minutes into the fourth quarter, cutting the Tigers lead to 34-14 at that point. Pelluer connected on 27-of-42 passes for a career-high 312 yards. In 2009, the Steve Sarkisian era opened when 11th-ranked LSU visited Husky Stadium for the season opener. In what was mostly a tight game, LSU pulled away for a 31-23 win. Jordan Jefferson threw for three TDs, including two to Terrance Toliver, to lead the way for the visitors. Washington's Jake Locker passed for 321 yards and two scores on 25-of-45 passing. Chris Polk rushed for 90 yards in the loss.

HUSKIES vs. SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE: Washington has played only five of the 14 current SEC teams. In a total of 11 meetings, three were in bowl games and three more were vs. Texas A&M prior to the Aggies moving to their new conference. In those 11 games, the Huskies are 2-9. Here's the breakdown: 0-4 vs. Alabama; 1-0 vs. Florida; 0-1 vs. Mississippi State; 0-2 vs. LSU; 1-2 vs. Texas A&M.

WASHINGTON-LSU TIES: Unsurprisingly for two teams so far apart, there isn't much crossover between the UW and LSU football rosters and coaching staffs. However, UW athletic director Scott Woodward is a Baton Rouge native, LSU graduate and former administrator at LSU while Cheryl Taplin, UW coach Steve Sarkisian's assistant, was a three-time NCAA champion and 16-time All-America sprinter at LSU. None of the members of the two coaching staffs have ever served on a staff together, though several LSU coaches were at Tennessee in the years just prior to the arrival of current UW defensive coaches Justin Wilcox and Peter Sirmon, who spent the last two years at UT. As far as players go, there are none from Louisiana on the UW roster, but there is one Washingtonian on the LSU squad: RS-Fr. FB Devante Meullion, who went to Chief Sealth. He is, in fact, the only player from anywhere west of Texas on the LSU roster. The Huskies' roster is, no surprise, dominated by players from the west coast. The only player from anywhere near LSU is Georgia native Antavious Sims.

TEAM NOTES

THE PAC-12: Last season, the Pac-10 Conference added Utah and Colorado to expand to the Pac-12. Washington, which along with California is one of two schools who have been in the conference since its founding in 1915, plays in the Pac-12 North, along with the other three Northwest schools (Oregon, OSU, WSU) and Stanford and California. Under current plans, each school will play all five division rivals, plus four of six teams in the other division each season. This year (and last), the Huskies will not face UCLA or Arizona State. Prior to last year, the last time that Washington didn't face UCLA in a season was in 1992 (when the Pac-10 schedule was eight games). The UW didn't face Arizona State in 2003 or 2004.

CAPTAINS: At the Huskies' annual "Raise the Woof!" preseason celebration, the captains for the 2012 season were unveiled. This season, thanks to a tie in the player voting, five captains were selected. On offense, junior quarterback Keith Price (Compton, Calif.) and senior center Drew Schaefer (Sammamish, Wash.) were honored. On defense, three players were selected: junior safety Sean Parker (Los Angeles), sophomore linebacker John Timu (Long Beach, Calif.) and senior cornerback Desmond Trufant (Tacoma). All five players are serving as UW captain for the first time as all four of the Huskies' captains in 2011 have departed.

DECADE AFTER DECADE: Washington has won a conference title and a trip to the Rose Bowl in each of the last nine decades, dating back to the 1920s when Washington won the berth in 1923 and 1925. In the 1930s, the Dawgs won the '36 title. In the '40s, Washington earned the trip in 1943 and then barely slipped in under the wire in the 1950s, winning the 1959 crown. The Huskies won two Rose Bowl berths in the 1960s -- 1960 and 1963 -- and one in the 1970s (1977). Titles in 1980 and 1982 did it for that decade and three straight trips to Pasadena to begin the 1990s covered that 10-year span. In the 2000s, UW was the first team to earn Rose Bowl berths in nine straight decades. USC joined the Dawgs in that distinction in 2004 after their New Year's Day appearance in Pasadena.

THE 100-YARD FACTOR: Since the 1947 season, Washington is 179-56-3 (.758) when a Husky player rushes for 100 yards in a game. Last season, the Huskies went 6-4 in such games as Chris Polk rushed for 100 or more in 10 of 13 games.

HISTORY LESSON: Successfully rushing the football and winning go hand-in-hand for the Huskies. Since 1990, UW has rushed for 200 yards in a game 77 times. The Huskies' record stands at 65-12-1 (.851) in those contests. Since 1995, UW is 40-9-1 (.810) when rushing for 200 yards.

PLAYING AT CENTURYLINK FIELD: Washington will play the entire 2012 home season at CenturyLink Field, home of the Seattle Seahawks and Seattle Sounders FC soccer. CenturyLink Field is located in the SoDo District of Seattle, just south of downtown (hence, SoDo). The stadium was opened in 2002 on the site of the old Kingdome. Washington has played two games there, prior to this season. In 2005, the UW opened the season with a "road" game vs. Air Force (the game was Air Force's home game, but moved to the "neutral" site), falling to the Falcons, 20-17. Last year, in a bid to give the Husky Stadium renovation project a head start, the Huskies played the annual Apple Cup game at CenturyLink Field, beating Washington State, 38-21, in front of 64,559 fans. The stadium, operated by First & Goal, Inc., has a FieldTurf playing surface and a football capacity of 67,000.

HUSKY STADIUM RENOVATION: Husky Stadium is currently undergoing a massive renovation which began last November following the Oregon game. The Seattle icon was first opened in 1920. Upper decks were added in the 1950s (south) and 1980s (north). Renovations will completely remake the lower bowl and the south deck. The stadium track will be removed and an operations center for the football team will be built into the west end. For much more information, including a virtual look from every seat in the new stadium, photo galleries, live construction cams, and more, go to huskystadium.com.

HISTORIC HUSKY STADIUM: The Oregon game on Nov. 5, 2011, marked the final game in Husky Stadium prior to major renovations that will be completed in time for the 2013 season. The 2011 season marked the 92nd season of play in Husky Stadium. Original construction on the facility was completed in 1920 when Washington played one game in the new campus facility. Thanks to several major renovations, Husky Stadium's seating capacity increased to 72,500. UW's all-time record in Husky Stadium stands at 357-169-21 (.673). Washington will re-open the stadium vs. Boise State on Aug. 31, 2013.

FAMILY TIES: As is the case with most seasons of Husky football, there are a number of players on the Washington football team related to either current or former Huskies. LB Jamaal Kearse is the younger brother of former WR Jermaine Kearse, who finished his career last season. RS-freshman safety Evan Zeger's father, John, played safety at the UW, lettering in 1980 and 1981, while sophomore WR Kasen Williams' dad, Aaron was a four-year letterman (1979-82) wide receiver for the Huskies. Freshman OL Shane Brostek is the son of Husky All-America center Bern Brostek (1986-89). Senior DL Talia Crichton, is a cousin of former DE Daniel Te'o-Nesheim. Junior quarterback Keith Price is a cousin of former UW tailback Jelani Harrison. A little further afield, sophomore TE Michael Hartvigson is a cousin to former UW baseball pitchers Chad and Grant Hartvigson. Incidentally, at least three Huskies have close family ties to Washington State. LB Nate Fellner is the grandson of former WSU head coach Jim Sweeney. Cooper Pelluer's father, Scott, played at WSU, as did Husky cornerback Desmond Trufant's brother Marcus. Pelluer's uncle Steve, however, was a UW QB and his father Scott was an assistant coach at UW.

RANDOM NOTES: Washington's roster includes player from eight different states (based on where the player completed high school): Arizona, California, Colorado, Georgia, Hawai'i, Nevada, Oregon, and Washington ... Washington has a long tradition of great Polynesian players; this year's roster includes 19 players of Samoan, Tongan or Hawai'ian descent: James Atoe, Jonathan Amosa, Jesse Callier, Talia Crichton, Jarett Finau, Cory Fuavai, Princeton Fuimaono, Micah Hatchie, Hau'oli Jamora, Lawrence Lagafuaina, Sione Potoa'e, Danny Shelton, John Timu, Semisi Tokolahi, Siosifa Tufunga, Taniela Tupou, Thomas Tutogi, Pio Vatuvei and Psalm Wooching.
